Black Boys Apart

Racial Uplift and Respectability in All-Male Public Schools

FREEDEN BLUME OEUR

While single-sex public schools face criticism, many Black communities see in them a promise: they can remedy a crisis for their young men. Black Boys Apart looks at two all-male schools, a public high school and a charter high school, showing such schools to be an odd mix of democratic empowerment and market imperatives, racial segregation and intentional sex separation, strict discipline and loving care.

“Freeden Blume Oeur demonstrates why he is one of the emerging go-to critical thinkers on the intersections of race and gender in schooling.” —Prudence Carter, author of Stubborn Roots

The Right to Be Out

Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity in America's Public Schools, Second Edition

STUART BIEGEL

With ongoing battles over transgender rights, bullying cases in the news almost daily, and marriage equality only recently the law of the land, the information in The Right to Be Out could not be more timely or welcome. In an updated second edition that explores the altered legal terrain of LGBT rights for students and educators, Stuart Biegel offers expert guidance on the most challenging concerns in this fraught context. The Right to Be Out, informed by the latest research-based findings, advances the proposition that a safe and supportive educational environment can lead to a better world for everyone.

Juárez Girls Rising

Transformative Education in Times of Dystopia

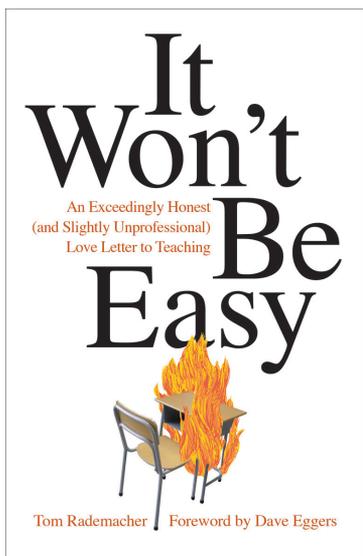

CLAUDIA G. CERVANTES-SOON

Working-class girls in Ciudad Juárez grow up in a context marked by violence against women, devastating effects of drug cartel wars, abusive authorities, and predatory U.S. capitalism. Bringing together the voices of ten female students at Preparatoria Altavista, an innovative urban high school founded in 1968 on social justice principles, Juárez native Claudia G. Cervantes-Soon offers a window into the possibilities and complexities of coming of age during a dystopic era in which youth hold on to their critical hope and cultivate their wisdom even as the options for the future appear to crumble before their eyes.

It Won't Be Easy

An Exceedingly Honest (and Slightly Unprofessional)

Love Letter to Teaching

TOM RADEMACHER

FOREWORD BY DAVE EGGERS

Tom Rademacher, 2014's Minnesota Teacher of the Year, follows a year of teaching, with each chapter tackling a different aspect of the job. Pulling no punches (and resisting no punch lines), he writes about establishing yourself in a new building; teaching meaningful classes; keeping students a priority; investigating how race, gender, and identity affect your work; and why it's a good idea to keep an extra pair of pants at school. It Won't Be Easy is accessible to anyone willing to understand that, while there are no simple answers, there is power in learning to ask the right questions.

UW Struggle

When a State Attacks Its University

CHUCK RYBAK

UW Struggle provides an on-the-ground view of the smoldering attack on public higher education in Wisconsin. Chuck Rybak provides important glimpses into the diminishment of shared governance and how faculty remain the scapegoat for all of the university's problems.

The Uberfication of the University

GARY HALL

The Uberfication of the University analyzes the emergence of the sharing economy and the companies behind it: LinkedIn, Uber, and Airbnb. The book considers the contemporary university, itself subject to such entrepreneurial practices, as one polemical site for the affirmative disruption of this model.

Inheriting Possibility

Social Reproduction and Quantification in Education

EZEKIEL J. DIXON-ROMÁN

Inheriting Possibility rethinks methods of quantification and theories of social reproduction in education, demonstrating that test performance results and parenting practices convey the impact of patterns of differential possibility. Through analyses of empirical data and cultural artifacts, this book reconsiders how we conceptualize the processes of inheritance and approach social inquiry to sharpen understanding and address the reproducing forces of inequality.

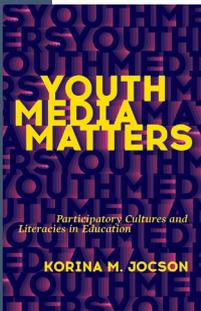

“Ezekiel Dixon-Román is not only the complete package, but stands out as one of the most creative intellectuals of our time.”
