Standing with Standing Rock
Voices from the #NoDAPL Movement
NICK ESTES AND JASKIRAN DHILLON, EDITORS

Amid the Standing Rock movement to protect the land and the water that millions depend on for life, the Oceti Sakowin (the Dakota, Nakota, and Lakota people) reunited. Through poetry and prose, essays, photography, interviews, and polemical interventions, the contributors reflect on Indigenous history and politics and on the movement’s significance.

The Political Arrays of American Indian Literary History
JAMES H. COX

“In this field-changing study, James H. Cox introduces the political array, a paradigm that allows him to demonstrate that Native texts and their authors are more politically complicated than our all too often reductive generalizations indicate. Elegantly researched, wonderfully lucid, and truly essential.” —Eric G. Anderson, George Mason University

—Margo Natalie Crawford, author of Black Post-Blackness

Black Bourgeois
Class and Sex in the Flesh
CANDICE M. JENKINS

With today’s repeated reminders of the vulnerability of African Americans to state and extralegal violence, Black Bourgeois considers the contradiction of privileged, presumably protected black bodies that remain racially vulnerable. Examining disruptions around race and class status in literature, Candice M. Jenkins demonstrates that the conflicted relation of the black subject to privilege is not, solely, a recent phenomenon.

Uproarious
How Feminists and Other Subversive Comics Speak Truth
CYNTHIA WILLETT AND JULIE WILLETT

Placing theorists in conversation with comedians, Uproarious offers a full-frontal approach to the very foundation of comedy and its profound political impact. Here Cynthia Willett and Julie Willett address the four major theories of humor—superiority, relief, incongruity, and social play—through the lens of feminist and game-changing comics Wanda Sykes, Margaret Cho, Hannah Gadsby, Hari Kondabolu, and Tig Notaro.

Men in Place
Trans Masculinity, Race, and Sexuality in America
MIRIAM J. ABELSON

Miriam J. Abelson conducts in-depth interviews with trans men in the U.S. West, Southeast, and Midwest, showing how the places and spaces men inhabit are fundamental to their experiences of race, sexuality, and gender. Men in Place explores the shifting meanings of being a man across cities and in rural areas.

With an eye to how societal institutions promote homophobia, transphobia, and racism, Men in Place argues that race and sexuality fundamentally shape safety for men, particularly in rural spaces, and helps us to better understand the ways that gender is created and enforced.

“A must-read for scholars interested in masculinity and its meanings across space.”

—C.J. Pascoe, University of Oregon

Homesickness

Of Trauma and the Longing for Place in a Changing Environment

RYAN HEDIGER

Ryan Hediger introduces a distinctive notion of homesickness, one in which the longing for place demonstrates intersubjectivity beyond the human. Arguing that this feeling is characteristically posthumanist, Hediger studies the complex mix of attitudes toward the familiar in an age of resurgent cosmopolitanism, especially eco-cosmopolitanism.
